A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Members of the Campus Community,

Please take a few moments to review this important material about the College’s efforts and experience in the areas of campus security and safety. You will note the College’s safety record is exceptional. It is a true example of what can be when the entire campus community is committed to working together.

TCNJ’s Office of Campus Police Services has been proactive in promoting safety and preventing crime on our campus, establishing a number of outreach programs designed to protect and educate members of the campus community. I ask that you, as a member of this campus community, continue to cooperate with our Campus Police and to assist them in preventing and responding to crime on campus.

I encourage you to be an active member of the College community. If you have any questions or would like more information regarding campus safety and security, please contact the Office of Campus Police Services administrative offices at 609.771.2171.

Sincerely,

R. Barbara Gitenstein
President
The College of New Jersey

Welcome

The College of New Jersey operates its own full service police department, dedicated to serving the College community. The Office of Campus Police Services works to improve the quality of life for those who live, work, study, or visit our campus. I am pleased to have the opportunity to tell you a little about our department and the services we provide. I invite you to explore our Web site, www.tcnj.edu/~tcnjpd, and our mission statement so you can get to know us better.

In recent years, we have expanded our community policing initiatives to improve our services and the quality of our interaction with the public. Some of these changes are increased foot and bicycle patrols, improved officers' training, instituting a code of behavior and instituting a civilian complaint policy, as well as redirecting officers' focus from traffic enforcement to community oriented policing.

We are working closely with our student, faculty, and staff partners to identify opportunities to ensure the services we provide to the community equal the quality of the education here at TCNJ.

Sincerely,

John M. Collins
Chief of Police/Director of Campus Security

Senior Security Officer Jamie Nazario confers with Officer James Bruther during traffic control.

Reporting Crimes and Emergencies

The College of New Jersey's Office of Campus Police Services provides law enforcement and security services 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The community is encouraged to report all crimes whether actual, attempted, or suspected, and all emergency situations to the Office of Campus Police Services by calling 609.771.2345.

It is important to know that a formal police report or investigation is not needed in order for a crime to be included in the crime statistics provided in this report. Campus security authorities are surveyed monthly for their input during the course of the year. Campus security authorities are represented by, but not limited to, the following departments: the Vice President for Student Affairs, Residential Education and Housing, Differing Abilities Services, Student Health Services, Athletics, Alcohol and Drug Education Program (ADEP), and Office of Anti-Violence Initiatives (OAVI). The data collected by these offices is anonymous and the Office of Campus Police Services does not collect victim information unless specifically authorized by the reporting person.

Outdoor emergency telephones are installed on campus. These telephones are clearly marked with blue lights and provide direct contact with the Office of Campus Police Services at all times. In the event of a fire, police, or medical emergency, dial 911 from any campus telephone. Students are encouraged to program 609.771.2345 into the phone book in their cell phone so that they can easily contact the Office of Campus Police Services.

Walking escorts are provided by security and police officers throughout the evening and early morning hours. To request an escort, call extension 2345 from any campus telephone or 609.771.2345 from your cell phone.

Authority of the Office of Campus Police Services and Relationship with Other Law Enforcement Agencies

TCNJ's Office of Campus Police Services consists of a chief, captain, lieutenant, sergeants, detective, patrol officers, dispatchers, and security officers.

All police officers are fully trained, commissioned, and armed in accordance with the state laws under which they are appointed. They have all powers of police and constables in criminal cases and offenses against the law throughout the state of New Jersey.

Office of Campus Police Services maintains a close relationship and consults with the Ewing Township Police Department on major cases and other matters of mutual concern. The Ewing Township Police Department and its officers also have full police authority on the campus. (Source: NJSA 18A:6-4.2 et seq.)

Incidents occurring on campus are handled fully by the Office of Campus Police Services. This includes the duties of response, investigation, and subsequent prosecution of any criminal activities.

The Mercer County Prosecutor's Office, Sheriff's Department, and New Jersey State Police also serve as valuable resources to the Office of Campus Police Services when needed.

The College also occupies several off-campus properties in Ewing Township. The Ewing Township Police Department monitors and responds to emergencies and criminal activity at these locations and shares all pertinent information with the Office of Campus Police Services whenever appropriate. Copies of the College's Uniform Crime Reports are provided monthly to the Ewing Township Police Department.

Maintenance of Campus Facilities

Security and safety issues are given high priority in the design of new facilities. The Office of Campus Police Services, in an ongoing program, conducts security surveys of existing facilities, with findings and recommendations forwarded to the appropriate administrative areas for remedial action when necessary. Periodic assessments of campus lighting and emergency telephones are conducted and deficiencies promptly addressed by the appropriate administrative area.

Crime Prevention

General information and crime prevention materials are distributed to incoming students and their families during orientation. As part of our community policing philosophy our officers partner with the Office of Residential Education and Housing to make community outreach presentations relating to crime prevention and services.

The Crime Awareness Program (CAP) is an effort in which students, faculty, and staff team together with campus police to help prevent crime and inform the campus community of

CRIME PREVENTION TIPS

- Call 911 from any campus phone, cell phone, or payphone to report an emergency.
- Value your safety as well as the safety of others.
- Always be aware of your surroundings.
- Report all suspicious persons or activities, safety hazards or unsafe lighting to the Office of Campus Police Services at 609.771.2345.
- Don't walk alone. Get a friend to walk, jog or run with you. Call the Office of Campus Police Services at 609.771.2345 for a Safety Escort.
- At night, always choose a well-lit and well-populated walking route.
- Develop a relationship with your neighbors; encourage checking in with each other.
- Have your keys in hand before you get to your residence or vehicle.
- Never take shortcuts through poorly lighted areas.
- Properly secure your living area. Avoid allowing non-ID holders to enter when you swipe into your residence hall and never prop open exterior doors.
- Keep your doors and windows locked at all times.
- Never leave your book bag, purse, laptop or other valuables unattended.
- For individuals that commute to school, do not leave valuables such as electronics, clothing, loose change or other personal items in your car. If you need to leave anything in your vehicle, do not leave it in plain sight. Make sure you always lock your doors.

security procedures through educational programs and interactive events. Please call 609.771.2345 for further information.

Crime prevention materials and reporting procedures are included in the faculty handbook and the student handbook. Human Resources provides the Annual Security and Fire Safety Report to new employees. A weekly “Cop Shop” feature in the student newspaper, The Signal, is an important element of our crime prevention effort, as is “The Daily Blotter” found on the Office of Campus Police Services’ Web page www.tcnj.edu/~tcnjpd.

Timely Warning/ Emergency Notifications

The College of New Jersey is required to notify the campus community of certain emergency situations and specific crimes that are covered by the Clery Act. The enumerated Clery Act crimes are: criminal homicide, murder, negligent manslaughter, sexual assault, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, arson, motor vehicle theft, and hate crimes. In order to effectively distribute safety information, TCNJ disseminates Timely Warnings and Emergency Notifications through e-mails, text messages, the College’s Web site, and other methods. The alerts are disseminated as soon as pertinent information is available.

Timely Warnings provide the time, location, and type of crime committed on campus. The information provided by Timely Warnings is designed to promote safety and allow for individuals to take precautionary measures. Emergency Notifications are issued without delay when it has been determined that there has been a significant emergency or dangerous situation occurring on campus that involves an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees. These threats consist of a range of hazards, including but not limited to: natural disaster, violent crime, or environmental danger. The incident will conclude with an overview of the crisis resolution. Additional useful information relating to the incident may be subsequently transmitted.

All reports of a missing student will be immediately investigated without delay. When possible, a liaison will be established to support the missing student’s family and to assist in the investigation.

Relationship with Campus Conduct Systems

Office of Campus Police Services maintain a close working relationship with the Division of Student Affairs, and the Department of Residential Education and Housing. Police officers may refer cases to the campus conduct system in addition to the formal criminal justice system. It is the policy of the Office of Campus Police Services to fully inform victims of all of their options through college and non-college entities.

Missing Student Statement

The College will request that all new students provide a primary emergency contact. That person shall be the first contact person in the event that the student would be reported officially missing during his or her tenure at the College.

If the student is suspected to be missing from the campus, the Office of Campus Police Services should be notified immediately. When residential or professional staff is informed of a missing student, he or she will notify the Office of Campus Police Services.

Upon receipt of a report involving a missing student, the Office of Campus Police Services will initiate an investigation to locate that person.

Access to Campus Facilities

The Office of Campus Police Services works closely with all college departments to ensure a safe environment exists for students. Residential students may notice police officers working alongside Residence Education staff members on their rounds to enhance the quality of life in residence facilities.

Residence halls are open only to campus residents and their invited guests and are so posted, consistent with New Jersey trespass statutes. Entrances to campus residence halls are equipped with card reader identification systems, which provide 24-hour access to campus residents. During evening and early morning hours, those seeking admittance to some facilities are additionally required to present proof of residency or, if they are guests, to present identification and be signed in by a resident.

Academic, administrative, student services, and recreational facilities are open to members of the general public during regular business hours. Individual academic departments establish access policies in academic buildings during hours when classes are not in session.

Alcohol and Drug Education Program

The College of New Jersey is an educational institution committed to maintaining an environment that enables community members to fully enjoy the benefits of an optimal learning experience. While not exempt from issues associated with substance use, misuse, and abuse, TCNJ is intent on acknowledging the problems that exist and disseminating information regarding the risks involved with substance use to the entire campus community.

To this end, the Alcohol and Drug Education Program (ADEP), www.tcnj.edu/adep, was fully implemented at the College in September of 1990. The ADEP office is a member of the New Jersey Higher Education Consortium on Alcohol and Other Drug Prevention and Education.

ADEP has several primary goals guided by the overall mission of the College and Division of Student Affairs:

- The promotion of a healthy, safe, and learning conducive environment.
- The development, dissemination, interpretation, and support of enforcement of campus regulations.
- The implementation of practices for prevention, education, training, and preliminary screening and referral services.
- Instill in students an awareness of choice, personal responsibility and understanding of the social and academic consequences associated with the decision to use alcohol and/or other drugs.

In fulfillment of its mission, TCNJ is committed to providing a campus environment that promotes the safety and well being of its students, faculty, and staff. While recognizing that the responsible and lawful use of alcohol and other drugs is socially acceptable in our society, the College regards the abuse of these substances and the use of illicit drugs as antithetical to its mission. Therefore, TCNJ permits the use of alcohol and other drugs only in a manner that is responsible and adheres to restrictions imposed by law and the College’s standards of conduct and prohibits the possession, use, and/or distribution of illegal drugs on the College’s property or as part of any of its activities. For a detailed summary of applicable laws and college regulations, see TCNJ’s Alcohol and Other Drug Policy available at: www.tcnj.edu/~sa/handbook/policies/alcohol.html.

Responding to Sexual Assault at The College of New Jersey

In New Jersey, sexual assault includes any form of unwanted or involuntary touching or penetration of intimate body parts by a person of the same or opposite sex. This can include being forced to touch someone else. “Unwanted or involuntary” means sexual contact without the consent of the victim, including the use of threats, intimidation, coercion, or physical force. It also includes victims who are unable to give consent because of their age or because they are physically helpless, mentally incapacitated or intoxicated.

Sexual offenders are often someone known to the victim such as a friend, acquaintance, date, spouse, or family member. The terms “date rape” or “acquaintance rape” are often used to describe this association, but this does not imply a less serious form of sexual assault.

The state of New Jersey recognizes that the impact of sexual violence on its victims and the surrounding community can be severe and long lasting. To address this issue, the Campus Sexual Assault Victim’s Bill of Rights was established. This Bill of Rights mandates that policies, procedures, and services are designed to ensure that the needs of victims are met and that the colleges and universities in New Jersey create and maintain communities that support human dignity. Campus Sexual Assault Victim’s Bill of Rights (pursuant to NJSA 18A, Chapter 61E) can be found online at the Web site for the Office of Campus Police Services www.tcnj.edu/~tcnjpd/stats.html.

TCNJ prides itself on its efforts to prevent sexual assault and be responsive to the needs of victims and survivors in accordance with the language and intent of the state’s Campus Sexual Assault Victim’s Bill of Rights. Sexual assault is against state and federal law and is in violation of the Student Code of Conduct. Behavior of this kind will not be tolerated and could ultimately result in expulsion from this institution.

When a sexual assault occurs, safety and medical attention are the most pressing issues. Victims are strongly encouraged to obtain prompt medical examinations and treatment for possible injuries, sexually transmitted diseases, and pregnancy.

If it is within five (5) days of the assault, evidence can be collected and preserved by activating the county based Sexual Assault Response Team regardless of the victim’s decision to involve law enforcement. In order to preserve evidence, victims should not shower, wash clothing, or disturb items at the scene of the crime. Once evidence is collected it can be held for up to 90 days while victims consider whether or not to press charges. Successful prosecution, in court or through the campus conduct structure, may be difficult without this evidence.

Reporting Sexual Assault

Two-thirds of perpetrators are serial perpetrators, meaning that they will typically assault several victims before being caught. With this in mind the College recognizes that the very act of reporting a sexual assault has the potential to prevent future assaults. Reporting the crime can also help victims regain a sense of personal power and control. Victims can choose to report the crime anonymously or provide a detailed incident report to the Office of Campus Police Services, College Security Authorities, or representatives of the Initial Contact Advocacy Network (ICAN) www.tcnj.edu/~sa/antiviolence/ICAN.html who are trained to be empathetic listeners and facilitate access to resources.

In all situations, victims have the right to choose whether or not to press charges or pursue campus disciplinary proceedings. If victims choose to involve law enforcement for offenses that occur on campus, charges can be initiated by contacting the Office of Campus Police Services at 609.771.2345. If the crime occurred off campus, victims should contact the local police or the Office of Campus Police Services for assistance in reporting the crime to the appropriate police department. Subsequently, the Office of Campus Police Services will work in partnership with the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office for investigations and legal proceedings.

Victims interested in pursuing campus disciplinary action should contact the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. Detailed information on the sexual offense code of conduct violations and disciplinary procedures can be found at www.tcnj.edu/~sa/handbook/judstructure. Consistent with the state's Campus Sexual Assault Victim's Bill of Rights, the campus conduct system affords the victim and alleged violator access to legal assistance, to have an advisor present, to be afforded accommodations to ensure safety during the hearing, and to be informed of the outcome of any disciplinary proceeding. This document can be found at www.tcnj.edu/~tcnjpd.

Resources for Victims

Victims of sexual offenses should contact the Office of Campus Police Services, the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, and/or the Office of Anti-Violence Initiatives (OAVI) www.tcnj.edu/~sa/antiviolence/index.html for information and to facilitate access to desired campus and community resources for emotional, medical, or legal needs.

OAVI addresses power-based personal violence including: sexual assault, domestic/dating violence, and stalking. By raising awareness through prevention and education efforts, OAVI aims to create a campus environment that is intolerant of abuse and responsive to the needs of victims and survivors. Persons impacted by violence, directly or indirectly, can meet with OAVI staff to obtain confidential counseling, advocacy services, and to review available resources on and off campus.

Every effort will be made to honor reasonable requests from victims of sexual offenses for changes or accommodations in academic and residence matters (schedule or room changes, etc.). The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs and appropriate departments will work collaboratively to implement these accommodations toward the re-establishment of a safe living and learning environment for all parties.

Sex Offender Information

Sex offender information may be obtained at the Office of Campus Police Services. Additional sex offender information can be found on the New Jersey State Police Web site at www.njsp.org within the link for the NJ Sex Offender Registry.

Fire Safety Education and Awareness

The Office of Occupational Safety and Environmental Services works closely with the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, Division of Fire Safety to ensure that all campus facilities are in compliance with the International Fire Code New Jersey edition.

Fire alarm systems and sprinklers protect all residence halls. Every fire alarm system within campus residence halls is provided with smoke detectors in all student rooms as well as in all common areas. The Office of Campus Police Services centrally monitors the fire alarm systems 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The Office of Occupational Safety and Environmental Services maintains a working relationship with TCNJ's Department of Residential Education and Housing to ensure that all persons responsible for the safety of students are properly trained in fire prevention, proper and safe evacuation techniques, and proper use of fire extinguishers. The Office of Occupational Safety and Environmental Services trains staff within the Department of Residential Education and Housing. This staff is then responsible for sharing this training with all residents shortly after they move in.

At the direction of the Office of Occupational Safety and Environmental Services, the Office of Campus Police Services and the Department of Residential Education and Housing perform four fire drills for each residence hall during the academic year. Two of the drills are performed during the fall semester and two are performed during the spring semester. At least one drill will be held between sunset and sunrise. This drill schedule is in compliance with the International Fire Code New Jersey edition. During each drill, each residence hall room is inspected to confirm that all fire safety policies are being adhered to. Residents found in violation of college policy are subject to disciplinary action through the College Conduct System.

TCNJ maintains a mandatory evacuation policy. In accordance with this policy, upon activation of any fire alarm all buildings are required to be evacuated. Building occupants are required to exit the building via the nearest exit doors and are required to move at least 50 feet from the building. Any person who fails to evacuate during fire alarm activation is subject to criminal complaints by the Office of Campus Police Services and/or disciplinary action through the College Conduct System.

The College of New Jersey and the state of New Jersey treat false fire alarms very seriously. Individuals who initiate false alarms are subject to local, state, or federal legal processes and/or disciplinary action through the College Conduct System.

A fire log is maintained at the Office of Campus Police Services. To review this log, please visit the dispatch window located in the Administrative Services Building.
